

Center of Academic Advising Statistic

The following is a brief statistical analysis of survey administered to Undergraduate students every academic year to evaluate the effectiveness of academic advising services at Qatar University. These results are shared to provide insight into the student's experience of academic advising services and further motivate students to provide feedback through the academic advising surveys.

The survey focuses on student satisfaction with the academic advising, and included responses from 3943 students across all the colleges, i.e., 27% of all active, registered undergraduate students in Spring 2016. The survey results and feedback give insight to the administrators of Qatar University in identify areas for improvement and further enhance advising practices.

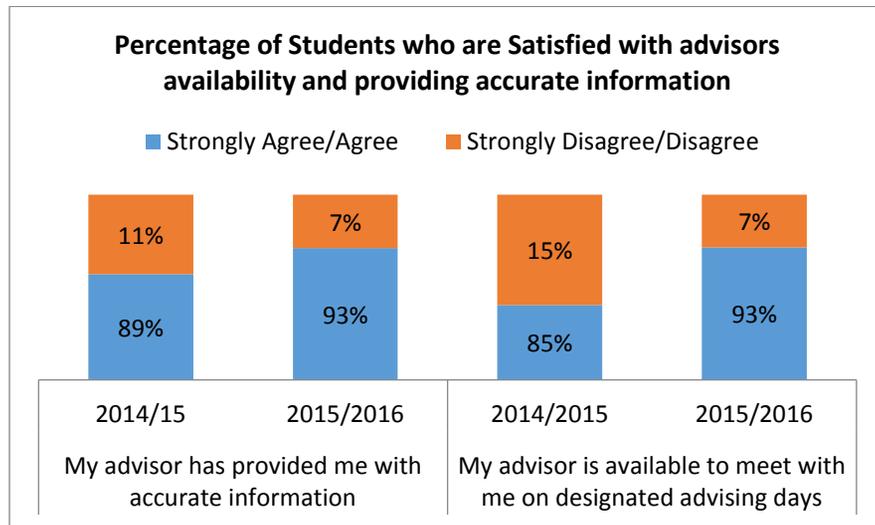

Demographic Data and Response Rates

- Overall response rate is 27%
- Females had higher response rate than male students (76% vs. 24%)
- Qatari female students had higher response rate than Qatari males (61% vs. 33%)
- Non-Qatari male students had higher response rate than Non-Qatari males

Students' Satisfaction with Advisors' Availability and Providing Accurate Information

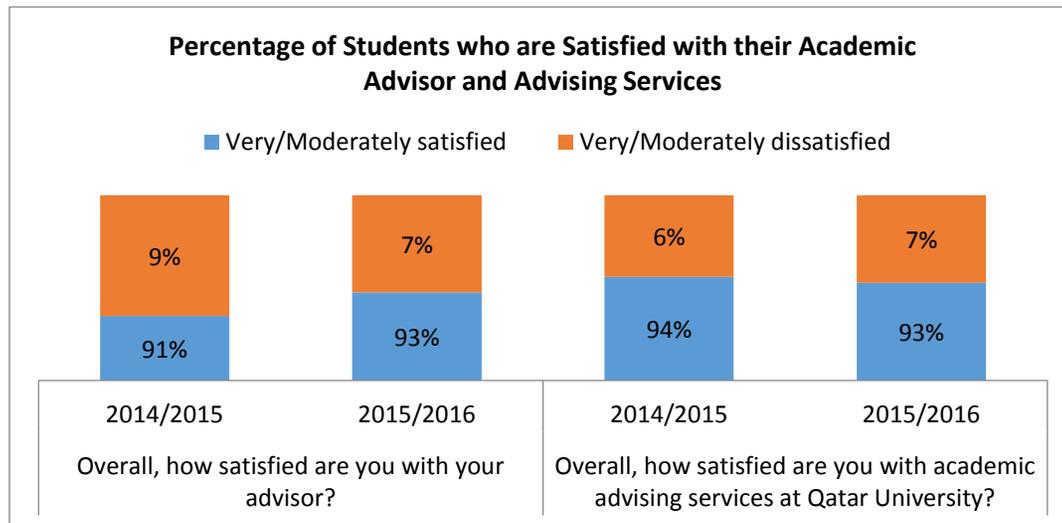

Comparison of survey results from Academic Year 2014/15 and 2015/16

- Students' satisfaction with advisor providing accurate information has increased by 4% in 2015/2016.
- Students' satisfaction with advisors' availability to meet has increased by 8% in 2015/2016.

Overall Student Satisfaction with Academic Advisor and Advising Services

Comparison of survey results from Academic Year 2014/15 and 2015/16

- Students' satisfaction with their academic advisor has increased by 2% in 2015/2016.
- Students' satisfaction with advising services has decreased by 1% in 2015/2016.

This release of survey results comes under the promise the Center for Academic Advising gave to students, as part of a greater commitment to inform students on the results of their surveys in general. The Center strongly encourages students to continue providing feedback and provide their suggestions by answering the survey for the current year, which can be accessed from their Qatar University email. The survey will be available in Spring 2018.